

Supplemental Educational Services

2008-2009

During the 08-09 school year, thirty-five companies were approved by the SC Department of Education to offer Supplemental Educational Services (SES), free tutoring, to eligible students in Title I schools. Of the original group of companies, 21 were ready to offer services to Colleton students. The number of students eligible to participate (372) was established once the cost of Choice transport for the year was determined. Funds that the federal government required the school district to set aside allowed the district to serve approximately 11% of eligible students. Below is a report of the number of students who participated in each Title I school and the number of students signed up with each provider.
